

---

THE POCAHONTAS TIMES

---

Entered at the Postoffice at Marlin ton, W. Va., as second class matter

---

CALVIN W. PRICE, EDITOR.

---

THURSDAY, MARCH 18, 1926

---

Let us take up some more finished business. Move your calendar back about a hundred and fifty years

CALVIN W. PRICE, EDITOR.

THURSDAY, MARCH 18, 1926

Let us take up some more finished business. Move your calendar back about a hundred and fifty years. Something happened here then that had news value if they had only been known it at the time. Daniel Boone and Jacob Warwick had a fight at Clover Lick. After all it happened the other day and it is not too late to chronicle the event.

This is to do my bit to claim for West Virginia a large share of the of fame Daniel Boone, and as usual we have to fight for what we get.

"Seven cities warred for Homer being dead, Who living had no roof to shroud his head."

The seven cities were Smyrna, Rhodes, Colonphon, Salamis, Ios, Argos and Athens.

Seven states contend for a share in Daniel Boone. They are Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, and was to Men. to the hero w

It was mount rotton
If I
myself
to abs write
Wh
and the m
no m
Perb
why not cubit
tains
foot
any subs
this the they know
ions.
brea
factu
grain

Seven states contend for a share in Daniel Boone. They are Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, and Missouri. It can be shown that West Virginia treated him better than any of the other states, for it is to West Virginia that he owes his civil and military rank.

West Virginia was at one time filled with traditions of Daniel Boone. He was a hero and the subject of much conversation. His name was on the lips of the pioneers wherever they congregated.

One of the tales that impressed me most as a child was the time that Daniel Boone killed twenty Indians. I believed it then, but I doubt it now, as it seems to me that it would have been preserved in written history. It came to me this way. I was receiving instructions how to split a log to make fence rails, and the use of the big wooden wedges called gluts. These were made in the woods out of dogwood or other hard material, and if carelessly made they would not draw and were inclined to jump out of the log by the lateral pressure. The expert said that twenty Indians surprised Daniel Boone in the woods making rails. Boone thought his time had come.

known in ions. T
bread pr
factured
grain gr
naturally
will grow
white flo
its growth
bread wa
in this kind of specific pone, fir
ny-cake
this cor
stock.

row whe
the bea
happene
are depr forced to

In the
ters or t
and the
they alm
could no
timers t
time. V

were afr

Daniel
was blac
and blue

Just a
tire you

...to come to me this way. I was receiving instructions how to split a log to make fence rails, and the use of the big wooden wedges called gluts. These were made in the woods out of dogwood or other hard material, and if carelessly made they would not draw and were inclined to jump out of the log by the lateral pressure. The expert said that twenty Indians surprised Daniel Boone in the woods making rails. Boone thought his time had come. He was working on a log and it had opened by means of a wooden wedge. Boone asked the Indians to help him with the log, and ten on one side and ten on the other inserted their hands in the crack and attempted to pull it open, whereupon Boone knocked out the wooden wedge and the log snapping shut caught the hands of the Indians and held them in a vice like grip. Then Daniel Boone tomahawked and scalped them at his leisure. Maybe they kept it out of the papers on account of a law against killing Indians, which law was more honored in its breach than its observance.

There is no reason to question the fact that Daniel Boone and Jacob

In
ters o
and t
they could timer
time.
were

Da
was b and b

Just
tire
few c Boon
citize
ia, th
the
the move
in N
the
to n
Brya
1735 aged peric
ment
the l who

Wi

handed and scalped them at his leisure. Maybe they kept it out of the papers on account of a law against killing Indians, which law was more honored in its breach than its observance.

There is no reason to question the fact that Daniel Boone and Jacob Warwick had a fight. That is well established. My father who was born two years after Jacob Warwick died, knew him well. Alright, say that he knew about it well. My father was a great-grandson of Jacob Warwick, and he could get the story from his mother or grandmother, I reckon.

Boone was a surveyor and land looker but lacked the infinite capacity for taking pains to perfect the titles to his locations. He had started to take up land on Elk River, and had sold it to Jacob Warwick and got money for it. Some time later Jacob Warwick found that he had got nothing in the way of a completed title, and being a man who was then acquiring a great fortune in lands, he

Boone was a surveyor and land looker but lacked the infinite capacity for taking pains to perfect the titles to his locations. He had started to take up land on Elk River, and had sold it to Jacob Warwick and got money for it. Some time later Jacob Warwick found that he had got nothing in the way of a completed title, and being a man who was then acquiring a great fortune in lands, he brooded over his loss. Then when Daniel Boone came into the community there was a quarrel and a fist fight. We never heard who whipped. I judge from that the old roosters were separated. This might have been at Dunmore but we picture it at Clover Lick. It did not greatly interfere with Boone's visit. Cleared up a misunderstanding, so to speak.
Anyway Boone said to Warwick:
"You have never seen any rich land.
Come with me and I will show you where there is rich land." Referring to Kentucky, only Boone probably called it Fincastle if this occurred the first time Boone lived here in the seventeen-seventies, or Kentucky if it was during his second residence in the seventeen-eighties. I think it was the first time, for Boone and about two

Hender
to a trac
This tra states of
and Her
an empl vania.

of eight
and his b
two of th
in 1775,
gress was style of vania wa

The f
tucky w 1773. E
that di twenty f
that wer ness Tra had got ley whe party of the mos
southwes

The pa
persons.
James B
of men
side of th

roosters were separated. This might have been at Dunmore but we picture it at Clover Lick. It did not greatly interfere with Boone's visit. Cleared up a misunderstanding, so to speak. Anyway Boone said to Warwick: "You have never seen any rich land. Come with me and I will show you where there is rich land." Referring to Kentucky, only Boone probably called it Fincastle if this occurred the first time Boone lived here in the seventeen-seventies, or Kentucky if it was during his second residence in the seventeen-eighties. I think it was the first time, for Boone and Warwick started on a long trip to Kentucky, but were turned back by Indians on the warpath.

Look at any reference book you pick up, you will find in it a life of Daniel Boone, yet none of the standard works even refer to his citizenship in Kanawha county, yet that is the only residence he ever had where he was honored by election to office, or where he ever received an officer's commission. He was elected to the Virginia legislature in 1790, with his colleague, George Clendenin. In

tucky v 1773. that d
twenty that we ness T
had go
ley wh party o
the m southw

The
persons
James
of men
side of 1773, t
mile o
camp f
night,
nees fir
James
was on 1773, j
The P
the m subdu
War.
of Da
Indian

Warwick started on a long trip to Kentucky, but were turned back by Indians on the warpath.

Look at any reference book you pick up, you will find in it a life of Daniel Boone, yet none of the standard works even refer to his citizenship in Kanawha county, yet that is the only residence he ever had where he was honored by election to office, or where he ever received an officer's commission. He was elected to the Virginia legislature in 1790, with his colleague, George Clendenin. In 1789 he was elected Lieutenant Colonel of the militia of Kanawha county and that is where he got the title Col. Boone, one that he was fond of using, but a title that his biographers never give him.

When Daniel Boone sought to record some of the history that he had observed, he hooked up with a school teacher named Filson, and got out a publication called "The Adventures of Colonel Daniel Boone, formerly a hunter." This was when Boone was fifty-nine years old. Owing to the fact that Boone could not spell and Filson could not write, it did not

1773,
mile
camp
night
nees
Jame
was 1773,
The
the subd
War
of I
Indi
was migl
sens
plea D
slau
Wes
the
caus
to k
the sett
hom
D
and
duch

cord some of the history that he had observed, he hooked up with a school teacher named Filson, and got out a publication called "The Adventures of Colonel Daniel Boone, formerly a hunter." This was when Boone was fifty-nine years old. Owing to the fact that Boone could not spell and Filson could not write, it did not add much to the sum of human knowledge. But you can see that Daniel Boone did not despise his colonelship in the Kanawha troops.

Daniel Boone is the beau ideal of pioneer times. He filled all the specifications in the way of height, good looks, endurance, skill, and courage. In his day they called these disciples of Ulysses the Long Hunters, owing to the fact that a few generations in the mountains had produced a race of giants. Of late years they have started to call them the Tall Men. This was suggested by the late Emerson Hough. It is said that he undertook to bring out three books on related subjects called a trilogy. The first

ES was The Covered Wagon, and the second was North of 36. The third was never written, his career being cut short by death. The third book was to have been called The Tail Men. This would have referred to the pioneers of this section and the hero would have been Daniel Boone. It was an irreparable loss to us of the mountains, but it coincides with our rotten historical luck.

If I had time I would undertake it myself, but I do not seem to be able to abstain from eating long enough to write a book.

Why did men and women grow tall and beautiful when they settled in the mountains? The bible says that no man can add a cubit to his stature. Perhaps not, but there is no reason why with proper care the human cannot add half a foot or even half a cubit. It was done in the mountains. Even yet you can get a six foot company of militia together in the why with proper care the human cansual not add half a foot or even half a be- cubit. It was done in the mounhis tains. Even yet you can get a six na, foot company of militia together in os, any of these counties, but our foot is are subsidizing. See what you think of va this theory? The mountaineers were ir- the tallest people on earth because nd they were cornfed. Wheat was un-st known in the mountains for generatny ions. The child was raised on corn st bread prepared from corn meal manu-id factured in a primitive manner from ne grain ground by stone burrs. It

e. naturally follows that a child so fed of will grow strong and tall whereas a as white flour child may be stunted in er its growth. Thirty years ago, cornbread was a standard article of diet in this country. There was even a kind of compact formation of great specific gravity called sweetened corn pone, first called johnny-cake. Johnny-cake is something else now. Or this corn diet boys grew like live kind of compact formation of great specific gravity called sweetened corn pone, first called johnny-cake. Johnny-cake is something else now. On this corn diet boys grew like live stock. It would be a day full of sorrow when corn was taken away from the beasts of the field. But it has happened that our precious children are deprived of this healthy food and forced to live on starch.

In the old days when the long hunters or tall men went to the lowlands and there were fed on wheat bread they almost unvariably got sick. They could not digest it. I have heard old timers talk about sick wheat many a time. When they first grew it they were afraid to eat it.

Daniel Boone's distinguishing mark was black hair and golden eyebrows, and blue eyes.

Just a few dates. Not enough to tire you. But you have got to use a few dates in history as you go along. Boone was a son of George Boone, a citizen of Berks County, Pennsylvan-few dates in history as you go along. Boone was a son of George Boone, a citizen of Berks County, Pennsylvania, the county of the city of Reading, the strongest Democratic county in the world. When a boy, the family moved to the Yadkin river country in North Carolina. He was still on the eastern waters. There he grew to manhood and married Rebecca Bryan. He was born February 11, 1735, and died September 26, 1820, aged eighty-five years. To fix the period of his activities it may be mentioned that they correspond to the life and times of Jacob Warwick who survived him eight years.

When Boone was thirty-four years old, he was taken up by a certain rich man by the name of Henderson, who had dreams of an empire beyond the mountains. He sent Boone on an exploring trip and Boone spent much time around and about where Boonesboro, Kentucky, is located, giving it a claim to the oldest settlement in Kentucky, though Harrodsburg has perhaps the better claim by about two weeks.

the mountains. He sent Boone on an exploring trip and Boone spent much time around and about where Boonesboro, Kentucky, is located, giving it a claim to the oldest settlement in Kentucky, though Harrodsburg has perhaps the better claim by about two weeks.

Henderson then got a color of title to a tract of land from the red men. This tract was about as big as the states of Kentucky and Tennessee, and Henderson dreamed of founding an empire to be known as Transylvania. He did elect one legislature of eighteen members, Daniel Boone and his brother, Squire Boone, being two of them. They held one session in 1775, but the Continental Congress was practiced upon in the usual style of honest politics and Transylvania was sunk without trace.

The first effort to colonize Kentucky was undertaken by Boone in 1773. He led a colony of settlers in that direction. There were some twenty families traveling in wagons, and his brother, Squire Boone, being two of them. They held one session in 1775, but the Continental Congress was practiced upon in the usual style of honest politics and Transylvania was sunk without trace.

The first effort to colonize Kentucky was undertaken by Boone in 1773. He led a colony of settlers in that direction. There were some twenty families traveling in wagons, that were to be left when the Wilderness Trail had been reached. They had got as far west as Powell's Valley when they encountered a war party of Indians. Powell Valley is the most western of the valleys of southwestern Virginia.

The party numbered about seventy persons. Daniel Boone sent his son James Boone in command of a squad of men to scout as flankers on one side of the march. On October 9th, 1773, this party of scouts camped a mile or so in the rear of the main camp for its protection. During the night, an Indian war party of Shaw-of men to scout as flankers on one side of the march. On October 9th, 1773, this party of scouts camped a mile or so in the rear of the main camp for its protection. During the night, an Indian war party of Shawnees fired on the rear camp and killed James Boone and five others. This was on the morning of October 10, 1773, just a year before the battle of The Point, and was the beginning of the movement that ended with the subduing the Indians in Dunmore's War. It also marked the beginning of Daniel Boone's feud with the Indians. From that time forth he was dangerous. Before then he might have killed Indians through a sense of duty. After that it was a pleasure.

Dunmore's complaint of the slaughter of the pioneers on the Western Waters always started with the Powell Valley battle. This caused this expedition to Kentucky to be given up. In Powell Valley the wagon train broke up and the

...had killed Indians through a sense of duty. After that it was a pleasure.

Dunmore's complaint of the slaughter of the pioneers on the Western Waters always started with the Powell Valley battle. This caused this expedition to Kentucky to be given up. In Powell Valley the wagon train broke up and the settlers returned to their former homes.

Dunmore had come to Virginia and had announced his policy of inducing the council to open up the western waters for settlement, and this caused the land hungry people to organize surveying parties to do the work of surveying and locating so that they would be ready to take the titles without delay. They did not wait for spring. In 1774, they commenced to trail west as soon as the days began to lengthen. By June, Dunmore knew he had a war on hands, and one of the things he impressed upon Preston, the headman of Fincastle county, was to warn all those surveying parties that settlers returned to their former homes.

Dunmore had come to Virginia and had announced his policy of inducing the council to open up the western waters for settlement, and this caused the land hungry people to organize surveying parties to do the work of surveying and locating so that they would be ready to take the titles without delay. They did not wait for spring. In 1774, they commenced to trail west as soon as the days began to lengthen. By June, Dunmore knew he had a war on hands, and one of the things he impressed upon Preston, the headman of Fincastle county, was to warn all those surveying parties that war was about to break out and to give them a chance to return. Preston secured Daniel Boone and Michael Stone as scouts to go as far as the falls of the

the third being book Tal
ferred d the Boone.
f the
our Ohio, (Louisville) and warn all surveying parties. These two men accomplished a journey of eight hundred miles in sixty-four days in the month of June, July, and August, 1774. In the meantime, Preston, and Andrew Lewis, and Charles Lewis had been drumming up the long hunters for the Lewisburg army.

When Boone got back, the army was already assembling at Lewisburg, and Boone reported there, and was detailed to take charge of Moore's Fort, at the mouth of Stony Creek, on Clinch River, in Scott County, Virginia. He had no commission. He was referred to in the dispatches as "Boone." The commandant of the fort next to him, Russel's was William Poage, Sergt., who was recommended for a commission. That is the part that Boone played in Dunmore's War. He saw long and continuous service. None longer but he was not at The Point, the day of the battle.

first year that the pioneers took their families with them. Boone stayed in Kentucky for eleven years, and he was an active and important member of that community, and he killed and scalped the Indians. He was captured. He fought two battles with the Indians at Blue Licks, and lost another son in battle with the Indians. He was a friend and contemporary of George Rogers Clark, of Albemarle County, Virginia. Those two heroes of Kentucky, were simply ruined by peace. After the war, they became as nothing to their companions, and the ruling forces. Clark was an outcast and a drunkard, and runned by all. Boone was sober, bright, and popular, but because he had not complied with all the red tape in regard to location of land and proving his claim, he was dispossessed and retired from Kentucky in dis-

live
sor-
from has dren
and
unnds
ead hey
old y a hey
rk
vs,
to e a g. a n-
g,
in ly
y shunned by all. Boone was sober, upright, and popular, but because he had not complied with all the red tape in regard to location of land and proving his claim, he was dispossessed and retired from Kentucky in disgust. He could overcome the red Indian, but red tape he could not understand

179
ing his he ye
M
th
n
h
a
a
t

Then it was that he moved to Kanawha county, West Virginia, and settled at the mouth of Crooked Creek, on the Great Kanawha, on the battlefield. He and his wife acknowledged a deed at Point Pleasant in Greenbrier County, in 1786, for land in Kentucky, and that is best evidence of the date when Daniel Boone was driven out of the ungrateful state of Kentucky.

We then find the Boone family back on the West Virginia side of the Ohio river, having parted with Kentucky forever. There must have been some grievance against that state. Such as might have followed

mark
rows, gh to use a ong.
ie, a van-
ing,
y in aily
try on ew
ca
1, 0, he
be to k
rs
n 1.
d
n

ledged a deed at Point Pleasant in Greenbrier County, in 1786, for land in Kentucky, and that is best evidence of the date when Daniel Boone was driven out of the ungrateful state of Kentucky.

We then find the Boone family back on the West Virginia side of the Ohio river, having parted with Kentucky forever. There must have been some grievance against that state. Such as might have followed the loss of his land.

When he got back. Kanawha had growing pains. It was ready for countyhood, taking in nearly all of the territory south of the Midland Trail and a lot north of it. Of course it was a backward settlement. The people of Point Pleasant, St. Albans, and Charleston, were not all sur-

---

men ac-
at hun-
in the August,
Preston,
Charles
up the g army.
e army
Lewis-re, and ge of Stony
Scott
o com-
in the
com-
him,
Sergt.,
com
that War.
ervice.
t The styllish like the people of Huntersville, Hillsboro, Frankford, Lewisburg, and Union, in that day and time, however much dog they put on now. Boone was one of three most active men in the formation of that county. This is sufficiently proven by the fact that he was made lieutenant colonel of the county.

Samuel Lewis was colonel, and George Clendenin and Andrew Donnelly, members of the legislature.
Boone was not a toller. He could survey if you ever got him started and keep him at it. We know that he could not spell, but we know he was a man of a large vocabulary and was probably an orator. But here is something that tells me that he was a clever person and one that might conceive the idea of a new county and carry it out. One day when it was open season for Indians in Kentucky he went out hunting and only killed two. But as he hung their scalps up to dry he remarked: Today rt that s War.

service.
at The

entucky t is the ok their stayed
and he nember led and as cap es with

nd lost
the In d con-
ark, of

Those
simply r, they
com-

Clark
l, and
sober, use he he red d and

and carry it out. One day when it was open season for Indians in Kentucky he went out hunting and only killed two. But as he hung their scalps up to dry he remarked: Today I have been to Lulbegrud and killed two Brobdignags in their capital.

A man that could make that grim play on the words of Dean Swift, was a man of quality, condition, and character. The place where Boone got the brace of Shawnees is called Lulbegrue Creek, somewhere in the dark and bloody ground.

It is remarkable that the ten years or such a matter that Boone spent in Kanawha county could be so universally ignored by historians. The more I see of historians the more I am convinced that they are slow on the uptake. Boone's fifties were passed in Kanawha county, and the county of Kanawha is the proudest monument that he has today. He trailed to Missouri about the year 1795, where he lived for the remaining twenty-five years of his life. But his son or sons continued to reside here and nearly all of the Boones

r, trailed to Missouri about the year e 1795, where he lived for the remain-d ing twenty-five years of his life. But d his son or sons continued to reside
- here, and nearly all of the Boones
- yet qualify for the Society of Tall Men.

It seems to me that Boone during those years went on the good old rule not to allow business to interfere with hunting, trapping, and fishing.

Here is a specimen day that is well authenticated. Patrick Huddleston at the close of the Revolution lived at the Long Shoal below the Kanawha Falls. One evening a stranger walked in carrying a rifle and a pack. Huddleston was his friend but his boys had never seen him. The boys were delighted to know that this was the famous Daniel Boone. The next morning at day break when the family awoke Boone was not there but his pack was. After a while he came in and explained that it was his custom to look for game at ed in carrying a rifle and a pack. Huddleston was his friend but his boys had never seen him. The boys were delighted to know that this was the famous Daniel Boone. The next morning at day break when the family awoke Boone was not there but his pack was. After a while he came in and explained that it was his custom to look for game at day break. After they had breakfast, Boone told the boys he would show them some beaver. They found a fox trap about the place and within a few days, Boone and the boys caught thirteen beaver.

It may be that Boone was that rare bird—a sensible man who took time to live.

about a hundred and fifty years. If I had something happened here then that had news value if they had only been known it at the time. Daniel Boone and Jacob Warlick had a fight at Clover Lick. After all it happened the other day and it is not too late to chronicle the event.

This is to do my bit to claim for West Virginia a large share of the of fame Daniel Boone, and as usual we have to fight for what we get.

"Seven cities warred for Homer being dead,

Who living had no roof to shroud his head."

The seven cities were Smyrna, Rhodes, Colonophon, Salamis, Ios papers on account of a law against killing Indians, which law was more honored in its breach than its observance.

There is no reason to question the fact that Daniel Boone and Jacob Warwick had a fight. That is well established. My father who was born two years after Jacob Warwick died, knew him well. Alright, say that he knew about it well. My father was a great-grandson of Jacob Warwick, and he could get the story from his mother or grandmother, I reckon.

Boone was a surveyor and land looker but lacked the taste from his mother or grandmother, I reckon.

Boone was a surveyor and land looker but lacked the infinite capacity for taking pains to perfect the titles to his locations. He had started to take up land on Elk River, and had sold it to Jacob Warwick and got money for it. Some time later Jacob Warwick found that he had got nothing in the way of a completed title, and being a man who was then acquiring a great fortune in lands, he brooded over his loss. Then when Daniel Boone came into the community there was a quarrel and a fist fight. We never heard who whipped. I judge from that the old roosters were separated. This might have been at Dunmore but we picture it at Clover Lick. It did not greatly interfere with Boone's visit. Cleared up a misunderstanding, so to speak. Anyway Boone said to Warwick; "You have never seen any rich land. Come with me and I will show you

Anyway Boone said to Warwick: "You have never seen any rich land. Come with me and I will show you where there is rich land." Referring to Kentucky, only Boone probably called it Fincastle if this occurred the first time Boone lived here in the seventeen-seventies, or Kentucky if it was during his second residence in the seventeen-eighties. I think it was the first time, for Boone and Warwick started on a long trip to Kentucky, but were turned back by Indians on the warpath.

Look at any reference book you pick up, you will find in it a life of Daniel Boone, yet none of the standard works even refer to his citizenship in Kanawha county, yet that is the only residence he ever had where he was honored by election to office, or where he ever received an officer's commission. He was elected to the Virginia legislature in 1790, with his colleague, George Clendenin. In 1789 he was elected Lieutenant Colonel of the militia of Kanawha county and that is where he got the title Col. Boone, one that he was fond of using, but a title that his biographers

ness
had g ley w
party
the n southv

The
person
James
of me
side of 1773, mile c
camp
night,
nees f
James
was o 1773,
The P
the n subdu
War.

of Da Indian
was
might sense
pleasu